1. COURSE OBJECTIVES:

The course has been introduced understanding the basic facets and importance inorganic growth of an organisation. Inorganic growth of an organisation becomes pertinent not only for the advantages of the corporation but also for all the stakeholders. Corporate Restructuring is the soundest method of expanding or contracting business. One of the best method of overnight inorganic growth is Mergers and Acquisitions. Merger or acquisition can be a source of power to a dying corporation or an ambitious inspiration to a well to do corporation. However, with inorganic growth comes hurdles which may be legal, financial or tax. M&A if not well thought of and strategized it can lead to a fiasco. The Course on M&A and Anti-Trust Laws studies and analyses interface between inorganic growths of corporation with its effect on competition. The M&A and Anti-Trust Laws course strives to develop student's cognitive skills and present the law as a subject demanding reflection and involving societal values and intellectual practices. The best means to promote such objectives is to provide a classroom environment where the professor and students engage in a dialogue about assigned cases and hypothetical problems. Our primary objective of the course is the same as thought and written by Fuller on teaching law i.e "There is, for example, an almost universal agreement that our primary objective is not to impart information. Whatever it is we want the student to get it is something more durable, more versatile and muscular, than a mere knowledge of rules of law." The objective of this course is not only to build basic understanding of the fundamentals of M & A and competition law but also develop student's cognitive skills in practical application of various components of the aforesaid law through problem solving method.

The course is covered in four modules in view of the important deals that have taken place in the corporate sector, the course is designed to understand the basic terminologies, critical issues and comprehensive analysis of the law on M&A.

Course Objectives:

1. To engage students in understanding basics of corporate finance, M&A and Anti-Trust Law.
2. To train students in practical application of various components of law on M&A by dealing with case studies through problem solving method.
3. To develop students understanding of M&A to such a level that can benefit the investors, corporation, exchanges and regulatory authorities. To develop balanced approach of students towards all stakeholder in M&A transaction.
4. To develop a deep understanding regarding various agreements and its impact on the competition.

2. TEACHING METHODOLOGY:

The method adopted for teaching is mixed method including regular classroom teaching. Secondly, the methodology is not a traditional lecture method but participatory teaching with discussion on legal principles and precedents in the classroom. The students are informed in advance the topic for discussion and the topic of project / assignment they have to prepare. The students prepare their topics from the sources suggested to them. The students are also encouraged to do independent research on their respective assignments. In the classroom every student is required to present his/her topic and to have his/her doubt cleared through discussion. The teacher will be helping and guiding the students in their pursuits of legal learning. The teacher summarizes after the students have completed their discussion, and he clarifies the doubts, if any, and answer their queries. The students will be asked to interview corporates, regulatory authority and different stakeholders. Students will be encouraged to watch videos and updates relating to the subject.

3. COURSE OUTCOMES
